

VENTILA PENDANT

Ventila — our nickname for the Tagalog word for 'fan' — is woven from Filipino rattan and takes inspiration from colonial era ceiling fans.

It's an interplay of textures, a mix of rustic and refined which is meant to capture a relaxed grandeur. Strands of tropical palm are carefully intertwined, forming a pattern of organic contours that balances against the crisp, warm edges of our brushed brass fittings.

Expert craftsmen create each piece, with its unique twists and turns, by hand in the Philippines from local, fully-renewable materials.
